Key: Left Bar: Recent Month
Right Bar: Year-To-Date

Fixed Income

- U.S. Treasury yields rose with the 10-year ending at 2.5 percent. The short end of the yield curve remained flat with the two-year rates trading equal to five-year rates.
- U.S. high yield led all fixed income categories, supported by dovish U.S. Federal Reserve meeting minutes, positive fund flows, and light supply.
- Unhedged international fixed income and emerging markets debt fell on U.S. Dollar strength.

Equities

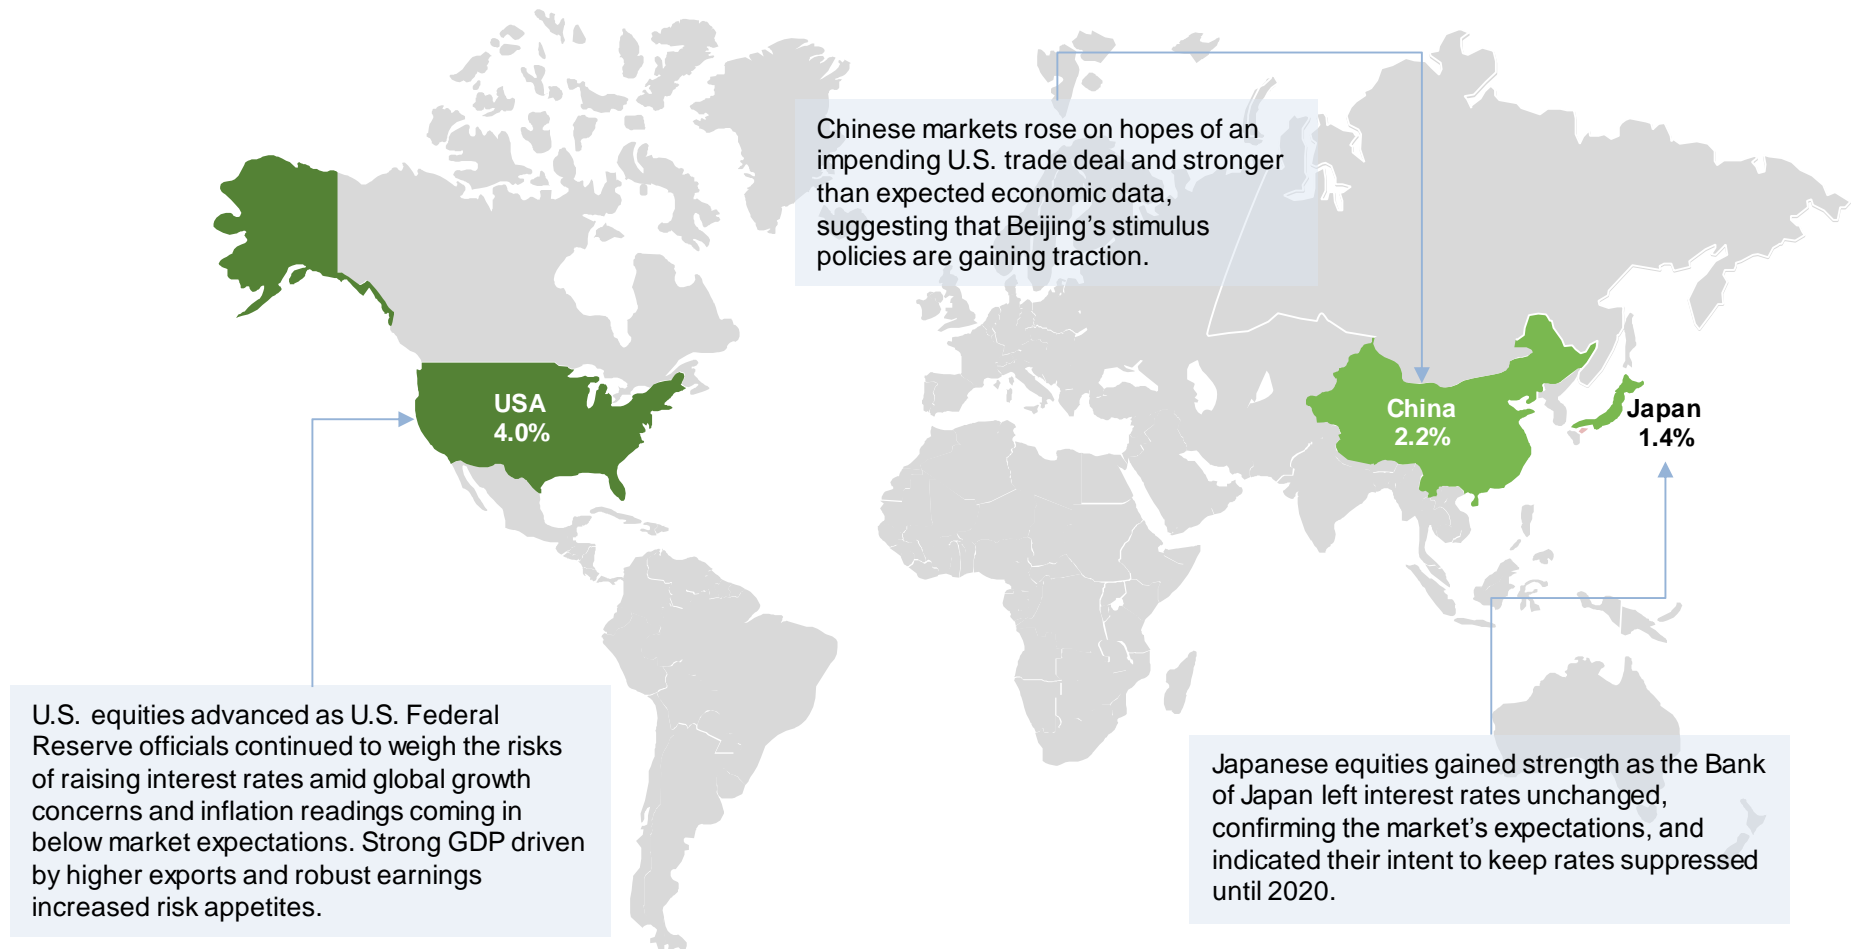

- Domestic equities posted gains amid growing optimism regarding trade resolution and strong earnings results.
- Growth broadly outperformed value during the month. Technology and financials led while energy and healthcare lagged the benchmark.
- Loosening monetary policy in Europe and China drove international equities higher as central bankers recognized slowing economic growth.

Real Assets

- Oversupply of industrial metals and natural gas dragged commodities lower despite an increase in oil prices.
- International REITs fell on weak Eurozone data and uncertainty relating to Brexit. Domestic REITs fell modestly as commercial property values stagnated.
- Volatility in oil prices and a 5.0 percent decline in natural gas weighed on MLPs.
